Date: 07/05/2018

We are pleased that you are interested in our website. The protection of your privacy is very important to us. In the following we provide detailed information about how we handle your data.

1. Access data and hosting

You can visit our website without providing information about your person. Every time you access a website (including second-level domains) the web server only automatically saves a so-called server log file, which contains for example the name of the requested file, your IP address, date and time of access, transferred data quantity and the requesting provider (access data) and documents the access.

This access data is used only for the purpose of ensuring trouble-free operation of the website and is analysed for the purpose of improving our website. In the weighing of interests, this serves to maintain our predominant legitimate interests in the correct portrayal of our website. All access data will be deleted no later than seven days after the end of your visit to the website.

Third-party hosting services

Within the scope of processing, a third-party provider provides the services for hosting and display of the website on our account. In the weighing of interests, this serves to maintain our predominant legitimate interests in the correct portrayal of our website. All data collected in connection with the use of this website or in forms intended for that purpose described below is processed on the third-party servers. Processing on other servers takes place only to the extent explained here. This service provider resides within a country of the European Union or the European Economic Zone.

2. Data acquisition and utilisation for contract processing and opening a customer account

We collect personal data if you provide it voluntarily when you contact us (e.g. via a contact form or e-mail). Mandatory fields are marked as such, since in these cases we need the data for processing the contract or your inquiry; without providing this data you cannot contact us. The particular data to be collected is evident from the respective input form. We use the data you provide us for processing your inquiries. After completion of the processing your data will be restricted for further processing and deleted after expiration of the retention periods based on tax laws and commercial laws, unless you have expressly agreed to the further use of your data or we reserve another right to use the data that is permitted by law and about which we inform you in this policy.

3. E-mail newsletter and advertising by post

E-mail advertising with subscription to newsletter

If you subscribe to our newsletter we use the data needed and communicated specifically by you for this purpose to send you our e-mail newsletter regularly on the basis of your permission.

You can unsubscribe from the newsletter at any time, either by sending a message to the contact below or via a link provided in the newsletter for this purpose. After unsubscribing we will delete your e-mail address, unless you have expressly agreed to the further use of your data or we reserve another right to use the data that is permitted by law and about which we inform you in this policy.

E-mail advertising without subscription to the newsletter and your right of revocation

If we receive your e-mail address in connection with the sale of a product or service and you have not objected, we reserve the right to regularly send you offers by e-mail for similar products from our spectrum to those already purchased. In the weighing of interests, this serves to maintain our predominant legitimate interests in appealing to our customers through advertising.

You can revoke this use of your e-mail address at any time by sending a message to the contact below or via a link provided in the advertising mail for this purpose, without incurring costs beyond the costs for transmission in accordance with the basic rates.

Within the scope of processing the newsletter is sent on our account by a service provider, whom we have given your e-mail address for this purpose. This service provider resides within a country of the European Union or the European Economic Zone.

4. Cookies and web analysis

To make the visit to our website attractive and to enable the use of certain functions, to display suitable products or for market research we use so-called cookies on various pages. Within the scope of application of Google Analytics (see below) this website also uses the so-called double-click cookie, which enables the recognition of your browser upon visiting other websites. In the weighing of interests, this serves to maintain our predominant legitimate interests in the optimal marketing of our website. The information automatically generated by the cookie on the use of this website is sent to a Google server in the USA and stored there. By activating IP anonymisation on this website the IP address is truncated prior to transmission within member states of the European Union or in other contracting states of the Treaty on the European Economic Zone. Only in exceptional cases is the full IP address sent to a Google server in the USA, where it is then truncated. The anonymised IP address of your browser determined by Google Analytics will not be stored together with other data from Google.

Google will use this information for the purpose of compiling reports on website activity and providing other services relating to use of the website. In the weighing of interests, this serves to maintain our predominant legitimate interests in the optimal marketing of our website. Google may also transfer this information to third parties where required to do so by law, or where such third parties process the information on Google's behalf. Google Double Click is an offer of Google LLC. (www.google.de). Google LLC has its headquarters in the USA and is certified under the EU-US Privacy Shield. A current certificate can be viewed here. On the basis of this treaty between the USA and the European Commission, the latter has defined an appropriate data protection level for enterprises certified under the Privacy Shield.

You can deactivate the double-click cookie via this link. In addition, you can obtain information from the Digital Advertising Alliance about the setting of cookies and configure the settings. Finally, you can configure your browser so that you are informed when cookies are set, or you can decide on an individual basis whether to accept cookies or reject the acceptance of cookies in general. Not accepting cookies can result in limited functionality of our website.

Use of Google (Universal) Analytics for web analysis

This website uses Google (Universal) Analytics, a web analysis service of Google LLC (www.google.de) for web analysis. In the weighing of interests, this serves to maintain our predominant legitimate interests in the optimised portrayal of our website. Google (Universal) Analytics uses methods such as cookies that enable analysis of your use of the website. The information automatically collected on your use of this website is generally sent to a Google server in the USA and stored there. By activating IP anonymisation on this website, the IP address is truncated prior to transmission within member states of the European Union or in other contracting states of the Treaty on the European Economic Zone. Only in exceptional cases is the full IP address sent to a Google server in the USA, where it is then truncated. The anonymised IP address of your browser determined by Google Analytics will not be stored together with other data from Google.

Google LLC has its headquarters in the USA and is certified under the EU-US Privacy Shield. A current certificate can be viewed here. On the basis of this treaty between the USA and the European Commission, the latter has defined an appropriate data protection level for enterprises certified under the Privacy Shield.

You can prevent the acquisition of the data generated by the cookie and related to your use of the website (including your IP address) by Google and the processing of this data by Google by downloading and installing the browser plug-in available at this link.

As an alternative to the browser plug-in you can click this link to prevent acquisition by Google Analytics on this website in the future. This will cause an opt-out cookie to be saved on your end device. If you delete your cookies, you will have to click the link again.

5. Advertising via Google AdWords Remarketing

We use Google AdWords to advertise for this website in the Google search results and on third-party websites. When you visit our website the so-called remarketing cookie from Google is set, which automatically enables interest-based advertising by means of a pseudonym cookie ID and on the basis of the sites visited by you. In the weighing of interests, this serves to maintain our predominant legitimate interests in the optimal marketing of our website.

Any other processing of the data will take place only if you have allowed Google to link your web and app browser history to your Google account and to use information from your Google account to personalise ads that you see on the web. In this case, if you are logged in to your Google account during your visit to our website, Google will use your data together with Google Analytics data to create and define target group lists for cross-device remarketing. For this purpose, Google will temporarily link your personal data with Google Analytics data to create target groups.

Google AdWords Remarketing is an offer of Google LLC (www.google.de). Google LLC has its headquarters in the USA and is certified under the EU-US Privacy Shield. A current certificate can be viewed here. On the basis of this treaty between the USA and the European Commission, the latter has defined an appropriate data protection level for enterprises certified under the Privacy Shield.

You can deactivate the function “Google Analytics Remarketing” by configuring the settings at <http://www.google.com/settings/ads>. But you can also deactivate the use of cookies for interest-related advertising via the advertising network initiative by following these instructions. Additional information about the tool “Google Analytics Remarketing” and Google’s data privacy policy is available here.

In addition, you can obtain information from the Digital Advertising Alliance about the setting of cookies and configure the settings.

6. Social Media plug-ins

Use of social plug-ins

Our website uses social buttons from social networks.

To increase the protection of your data when visiting our website, these buttons are not embedded on the page without restriction as plug-ins, but only by means of an HTML link. This method of embedding ensures that when you access a page of our website that contains such buttons, there will be no automatic connection with the servers of the provider of the respective social network.

If you click one of the buttons, a new window opens in your browser with the page of the respective service provider, where you can (after entering your login data, if necessary) then use the Like or Share button.

The purpose and scope of data acquisition and further processing and use of the data by the providers on their websites, as well as a contact option and your rights and configuration options in this respect for protecting your privacy can be found in the data privacy information of the providers.

If the processing takes place for purposes of direct marketing you can exercise this right as described above at any time. If the processing takes place for other purposes, you are entitled to a right of revocation only if grounds exist that result from your particular situation.

After exercising a right of revocation we will no longer process your personal data for these purposes, unless we can demonstrate compelling reasons warranting protection that outweigh your interests, rights and freedoms, or if the processing is for the purpose of asserting, exercising or defending legal claims.

This does not apply if the processing takes place for purposes of direct marketing. In that case we will no longer process your personal data for this purpose.
